

5 Things You Should Know Before Hiring An Interior Photographer

to make sure your photos will reinforce your brand and bring clients

Hello, nice to meet you!

My name is Fatima, I am an interior photographer based just in the middle of Lausanne and Geneva.

I love to photograph interiors and architecture inspired by nature, using natural textures, shapes and colours.

I help

Architects, Interior Designers and Entrepreneurs present their projects with professional images, so their potential clients fall in love with the interiors without visiting them.

I know how to make your interior come alive through images that speak and touch your clients reflecting the atmosphere and harmony you intended, through my workflow and many years of experience with editorial magazines.

My images will reflect your creative vision of architecture and design and seduce your clients by giving all their senses a feeling as if stepping into real decor.

1. Distinguish yourself with memorable and original-style photographs that capture your projects and unique vision. Professional photographs that exude harmony by paying great attention to every little detail. My zone of genius is to capture the right mood, texture and colours of your creations.

Always aim for magazine-style photos. Publications in professional magazines will bring great exposure to your business. My twenty years of editorial experience will help in publishing your designs with professional, high-quality photographs in Interior Magazines. They are always looking for unique voices and visions, for new perspectives and creativity. Thanks to my unique approach, I have all the skills and insight to identify and photograph your project that is just that little different, which surprises and inspires.

Het hoge werktme wordt gevoerd door de snelle wijzigingen in de wereld van de informatietechnologie en die kan één mens alleen niet volgen. Een werknemer kan op een laptop werken, krijgt een mobiele telefoon, kan daar ook mee faxen en e-mailen, krijgt de mogelijkheid om zijn werkmiddelen overal in te pluggen en informatie op te vragen. Het is een totaal nieuwe wereld.

Ook de lijst nieuwe kantoortermen werkt demotiverend: wat betekenen hot-desking, touch down, hotelling, desk sharing, teleworking, non-territorial office, flexibel en alternatief werken nu eigenlijk? En kun je een hedendaags kantoor inrichten als je die termen niet eens kent? De snelle veranderingen frustreren mensen. Daarom, vindt men bij Vitra, moet de werkomgeving voor de doorsnee-mens liefst erg goed leesbaar blijven. Met andere woorden: zorg dat het kantoor er een beetje zoals thuis uitziet. En wat lijkt er nu meer op thuis dan een kopie van thuis? Heel langzaam krijgt dat idee in kantoren vorm: de meubels, kleuren, verlichting en verluchting lijken steek op wat je in een doorsneeleefruimte vindt. ▶

Planning is important so I will provide you with an easy-to-follow 'before-at-after' shooting plan. One of my skills is styling photographs harmoniously and making your creations stand out by working on what is at hand or if desired, helping find the right decoration or piece of art. 4.

Make sure your images will evoke all senses and make your interior come alive by highlighting textures and true colours in choosing the right light and angle. My images will reflect your creative vision of architecture and design and seduce your clients by giving all their senses a feeling as if stepping into a real decor.

Communication is key so make sure your photographer understands your vision. With my expertise and communication skills, I can easily and properly identify what your ideas, expectations and goals are which I then reflect in photographs with natural lighting to make your work stand out from the competition.
